President of Los Angeles Manx Society Gives Practical Support to N.A.M.A.
He is Joining the Pilgrimage This Year. To Meet This Fine Manxman

"COME-ON-OVER"

This issue of the bulletin is sent to you through the courtesy and kindness of the President of the Los Angeles Manx Society, Daniel Teare, whose name stands out as one of the greatest Manxman in the world today. His interest in Manx affairs never lags. His constant thought is to be of service to the Manx people. Truly it can be said of him that "he loves his fellowmen" and we who have had the pleasure of getting acquainted with him at our Conventions together with the members of the Los Angeles Manx Society, think of him as one of "nature's noblemen."

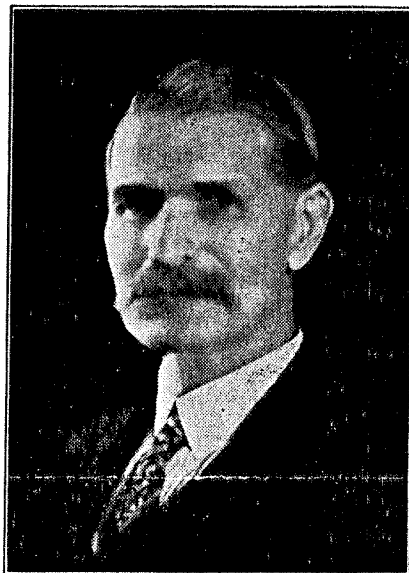

He is vitally interested in the N. A. M. A. and his forceful plea for the support of all Manx people to our cause at the Toronto Convention has gone far to build up good will everywhere. As regional director he has worked untiringly to forward the interests of the N. A. M. A. The splendid delegation already booked from this territory and the prospects of increasing that number is very gratifying, especially when one remembers the great distance that the people of Los Angeles must travel to join our party. Mr. Teare and Mr. T. Donald Bain, Secretary of the Los Angeles Society, are to be congratulated on this fine showing. Mr. Teare has always cooperated with the officers of the N. A. M. A. and his kindly advice is at all times welcome. At Toronto, as Chairman of the Constitution and By-Laws Committee, he worked untiringly to effect a real basis on which to build a worth-while organization.

Daniel Teare was born on the farm of Ballalerghey, in the Parish of Bride, Isle of Man. As a youth he was well known on the north of the Island for his work in connection with the Wesleyan Methodist Church and Sunday School, and in which he is still interested, as attested by his many financial gifts to the cause in Bride.

In 1893 he immigrated to Canada, but remained in the Dominion only a short time, moving to Oregon in the latter part of that year, where for several years he engaged in placer gold mining on his own account. But the loneliness of the mountains and the absence of any Manx people with whom he might comingle induced him to move to San Francisco where he took up the business of building and contracting.

While in that city he became interested in Fraternal work, and eventually was elected Grand Chief Ranger of California of the Foresters of America, one of the largest benefit orders in the State. During his regime the Order had one of the greatest gains in membership in its history.

DANIEL TEARE
President Los Angeles Society

After the San Francisco disaster in 1906 Mr. Teare headed a committee that disbursed many thousands of dollars sent for the relief of the members of the Order who were in distress, and gave much time helping those who had lost their all.

In 1909 he moved to Chicago, where he married Mrs. Kneale of that city, a lady who also was born in Bride, Isle of Man, daughter of the late John Quayle of East Kimmeragh.

While in Chicago he became a member of the Manx Society of that city, and one of Mr. and Mrs. Teare's greatest pleasures was to entertain the Manx people at their home beside the lake.

But the call of California could not be resisted, and after several visits they eventually took up their residence in Los Angeles. Mr. Teare took an important part in organizing the Los Angeles Manx Society on September 21st, 1923, and on October 19th, 1923, he was unanimously elected president. Since that time he has held this important office every year, the September election of this year making him president for the seventh time. The Los Angeles Manx know and love this great Manxman and are loath to let him step aside (although he has on several occasions urged that someone else take the president's chair). Not alone is Mr. Teare a splendid presiding officer, but in the everyday walks of life he is ever willing and eager to help in all that pertains to Manx affairs. He and his good wife are regular visitors to the sick and distressed, their cheerful dispositions and encouraging words oftentimes are the means of easing the load of the unfortunate. Truly the Los Angeles Manx are fortunate in having Mr. and Mrs. Teare as workers, and may they live long to lead the Manx in the Golden West.

Mr. and Mrs. Teare in late years have made several visits to their native home which they both love so dearly.

Both he and Miss Marion Teare have attended our Cleveland and Toronto Conventions, traveling many thousands of miles to meet their Manx friends. On these occasions Mr. Teare delivered eloquent addresses, and his sincerity made him many new friends. This year Mrs. Teare is joining them for our third convention in the homeland and those of you who have not had the pleasure of meeting this genial family will welcome their presence with us and we, their friends, will be glad to meet them again.

So here's our best wishes and a hearty God Bless and Protect You! The N. A. M. A. is proud of you.

Get the Spirit!

Every Manx Society, our Regional directors and organizers are putting forth every effort to make our 1930 Homegoing Pilgrimage in June next a wonderful success.

At this early date, 69 reservations have been recorded. We wish to especially thank T. Donald Bain, secretary of the Los Angeles Society, who has worked unceasingly and has secured 25 reservations from his district; also J. J. Kelly, of Cleveland, who has registered 32. Many other members are "doing their best" and we hope to report in our next issue double our present number of reservations.

We are also pleased to report that we have received many individual inquiries from all parts of the continent. The past week we have answered 82 such enquiries and it is surprising to find so many Manx descendants are interested in this trip.

We wish to thank John R. Hindley of Salt Lake City who has forwarded to us the names of 78 of our kinfolk residing in this district of Utah. We also thank J. S. Agnew of Moosejaw, Saskatchewan, for the 16 names furnished by him and to the many friends who have shown their interest in the N. A. M. A. by forwarding new names. Since the Toronto convention we have added 362 new names from all parts of the continent to our mailing list. We are now sending our Bulletin to every state in the Union and to every province in Canada. There are still many of our people we would like to reach and you can help us by forwarding their names.

We want to live up to the objects of our association. The N. A. M. A. would gladly help and give financial aid in the formation of Manx Societies in Detroit, Salt Lake City, Omaha and Moosejaw, Sask., or any other city where there are enough of our kinfolk to organize. Can we help you?

We congratulate Calgary, Alberta, on the very fine society they have recently organized. We hope you appreciate our efforts in trying to build up our organization, which is for the mutual benefit and social welfare of the Manx people and their descendants. Any suggestions or criticisms which will help to make our association stronger, will be welcomed. You may have a suggestion that will help to make our Homegoing Pilgrimage a greater success. If so—write us.

Plea for a Successful Homegoing! Toronto Reflections

Next June, I trust that a greater movement towards the Isle of Man will be consummated, not only two or three hundred, which was a splendid beginning, but a thousand will turn their faces toward the Isle of Man. I know there are obstacles in the way for many. It is not only the cost of going over there, but the time it takes and the business and the family ties, but let me tell you, my friends, we are only here for a short time after all, and you will be repaid for the trip by renewed vigor and life.

The Longing for Home

There is not a man or woman who first saw the light of day on that gem in the Irish Sea, but what has a longing in his heart to see it again. Many have seen it time and again, and you have always come back renewed in body and in spirit, and some of you have never gone, and yet you have the longing and memory in your heart and over you are gently stealing the years that bring you into the yellow leaf of life, but you hope that the time will come when the thought and hope of years will be satisfied. How many of you in the years that have gone have in your imaginations stood over yonder and gazed upon the scenes that have indelibly impressed themselves on your minds when life was young! How many have, in your thoughts, walked the country road and seen the places you saw when you were young! How many of you, in your thoughts, as you have walked along, have been thinking of the little things perhaps, about the most intimate and the most sacred things of your lives—thought about the old school and the old playground where you spent so many happy years and you have thought about the church, where, as a child, you had been led to worship, and you have wondered where, where are the boys and girls of yesteryear? Some are in the graveyard. That will be the sad part of it. Others have gone to distant lands, but the joy, when you find that some are just where you left them, with their hearts filled with love toward you!

The old farm is still there. It is there for you, as it was for me when I was over there. One wonderful summer morning, I stole away from my friends, and I went up to Kirk Bride, and I looked over the old farm and the house where I was born, standing there for more than 150 years, and I went out on the fields along the little by-ways and hedges and into every nook and corner of the old place, each holding a thought for me. Some of the thoughts were sad thoughts. I need not tell you why, but I would not have put them out of my heart if I could.—Daniel Teare, Los Angeles.

His Worship, Mayor Wm. Quirk, Douglas.

"We hope you will 'COME-ON-OVER.' The ozone of our Island will invigorate you so that you will go back feeling that life is worth living and that we are put in the world for a purpose and that purpose, with God's help, we will fulfill."

Hugh Cannell, Montreal.

"We are all proud of the Isle of Man and want to revere and love her but that while we all love the Island, we also love the country of our adoption as we should and which is proper. I am proud of the way the Manx have progressed in the great Republic of Canada and I have not met one Manxman who has not been able to get along pretty well. Neither have I met one who has not been a loyal citizen."

Judge Alva R. Corlett, Cleveland, who has booked to sail with the Homegoing Party.

"Although the N. A. M. A. has adopted the flag with the symbols of the three nations, United States, Canada and the Isle of Man, they all have one Mother country. This country has given them certain ideals, which they still have. These ideals born in their ancestors in that little Island in the Irish Sea made them good loyal citizens of the United States and Canada and I hope they will never forget them. I also hope to meet and see more of the good that came out of Jurby and Andreas where my ancestors came from."

Hon. Pres., A. B. Crookall, Douglas.

"The people of the Island sincerely hope as many of you as can will make the homegoing trip and I can assure those that come a good time awaits you. We are looking forward to renewing acquaintances made in 1927 and are looking forward to making new acquaintances. We did our best before and I think our best was not so bad and we hope to do a great deal more in June next. You can rest assured we will do our level best to make it a success."

Daniel Teare, Los Angeles.

"I want to leave one thought with you. It is not a new or original thought with me. It has been exemplified in many different places. Now would it not be a beautiful thing when we go over there next June for each one to plant a tree for someone? Someone perhaps who for King and Country went across and did not return or perhaps did return and has since 'gone West'? Or it might be for a Mother or Father or some other dear friend? There are no monuments of stone or brass to be compared with the monuments of living trees."

John R. Cowell, President of Chamber of Commerce, Toledo.

"I know of no people in the world who show such devotion to their homeland than do the Manx. What a heritage we have! We have this beautiful Island which nature has given us and there is no spot in the world which presents so much loveliness. I have sent a good many American friends over there and I have yet to find a man or a woman who has not come back infatuated with it."

John R. Cain, President of Mona's Relief Society, Cleveland, who is anticipating the trip.

"I hope our party will include many who have never before visited the Island. I want you to see that majestic sea front of Douglas, the beauty of Ramsey and the north, Castle-town with that ancient castle, Peel, that city of the golden west, those lovely hills and glens, but greater than these things I want you to meet and know the Manx people in their homeland. I know if you do this you will come back proud of your heritage and the name Manx will have a newer and finer meaning."

Pack-A-Bag and Come-On-Over!

You will arrive in Montreal Friday, June 13th, on the special train leaving Chicago (which will have the Los Angeles party on board), stopping at Detroit, London, and picking up the Toronto contingent, then direct to Montreal; or on the special train from Cleveland carrying the Cleveland and Middle-western delegation and picking up Eastern delegates at Buffalo.

There will be a tour of the city of Montreal arranged by the N. A. M. A., visiting many points of interest. Then you go on board to sleep. Next morning when you awake, the "DORIC" with the N. A. M. A. flag flying will be sailing away down the mighty St. Lawrence River on the way to Quebec which is reached about lunch time.

Here another sightseeing tour arranged by the N. A. M. A. You will have several hours to visit the interesting spots of this most historic city—the heights of Abraham which Wolfe scaled at the dead of night—the old fortresses still standing mute witnesses to a day now history—the tender shrine of St. Anne-de-Beaupre—the Lourdes of this continent—these and a hundred other fascinating sights are yours. Then back to the "DORIC" for the remainder of the trip down the river. The journey past islands, along banks studded with the beauties which nature has distributed with so lavish a hand make this route so interesting and delightful.

Four and a half days of pleasure on the open sea, every day a day of physical relaxation and pleasure—watching the children in their sports and games—entering in and enjoying ourselves also—the dance and the concerts in the evening arranged for us—all a continuous, enjoyable entertainment and the most delightful holiday one could possibly have.

We arrive in Douglas Bay Saturday, June 22nd. Your native land or the land of your forefathers.

We have crossed the Atlantic to visit our relatives and friends and to renew old acquaintances—to cement the friendly ties and bind us to the loved ones still at home—the kindly welcome that awaits us from the hundreds of friends awaiting us on Douglas Pier. Can you visualize what a happy scene that will be? The joy of meeting kith and kin again—the warm welcome of old friends, whose kindling eyes and welcoming smile tell us how glad they are we came. Join the party and again visit the homeland. You will be prouder than ever of your heritage and when you land on that beautiful Isle, you will sing with a new meaning "My own dear Ellan Vannin, with your green hills by the sea—"

COME-ON-OVER

Sir Hall Caine Tells Why You Should Come-On-Over

Extract from the message of our great countryman, Sir Hall Caine, given Alderman A. B. Crookall, H. K., our Hon. President, before his departure from the Island for the Cleveland convention:

"First, that the idea of your coming back every few years in as large numbers as may be possible to the little Island that was formerly your home, or that of your forebears, seems to me to be a good and happy one. We have little to show you that you do not know already. We have nothing here that is comparable with the grandeur of scene and the throb of tumultuous life on the vast continent of your adoption. Just a sweet little green island, set in the blue waters of the Irish Sea, with its rolling hills and slumberous glens, full of gorse and heather and fern; three or four quaint little fishing ports, and one larger town devoted to the joyous and rather rollicking life of the visiting industry. Only this and a few broad stretches of curragh land with their sweet-smelling salley-bushes and their whitewashed thatched cottages that were perhaps the homes of your ancestors, as they were of mine. If, like myself, you are growing old, you can sit on the three-legged stool in the 'chollagh' and think yourself back to the time when your grandmother sat there before you, feeding with dry gorse, the crackling fire under the 'oven-pot' that is linked to the 'slow-rie' which hangs down the open chimney. And then there is always the Anglo-Manx speech which seems to every Manxman, as often as he hears it in a foreign country, to creep somewhere between his flesh and his skin. That is all; but perhaps it is enough if it awakens the child in you, and brings back the memory of much that was purest and best and dearest in your life.

Next, I would say that the idea of your Homecoming at intervals is good from the point of general human welfare. The great country in which you have made your homes is a mighty commonwealth of all the nations, and it does not deny to any of them the right of maintaining their national affections. That is as it should be. The naturalized Englishman in America is no less a good American for remaining in his own heart a good Englishman also. The same is true of the naturalized Scotsman, Irishman, and Welshman. And who will say it is not also true of the members of that least of all the nations, which we call the Manx? The naturalized Manx-born American is no less a good American because he remains a good Manxman. Deep in his soul may be the call of the little mother-island that gave him birth, but also high in his heart is his pride in the great country that has become his fatherland, and will probably be the fatherland of his children and his children's children."

T. E. Brown Centenary

The committee appointed for this worthy object by the Lieutenant Governor of the Island have decided on the following as the best method of celebrating this centennial:

- 1—Public Demonstration on May 5, 1930.
- 2—The erection of a T. E. Brown Shrine Museum at Douglas, to be a home for Manx literature.
- 3—A centenary memorial volume containing a life of Brown with contributions from his personal friends.

This proposed shrine will contain six windows and it has been suggested by the above committee that the various overseas Manx Societies make themselves responsible for the cost of installing one of these windows. Each window will represent subjects from Brown's works done in leaded lights. The members of the local committee appointed by the various Cleveland Societies feel that Cleveland and vicinity with the largest and oldest Manx Societies in the world should sponsor one of these windows. It can be done if you fill in your pledge and mail same to Miss Helen Minor, 1374 Edendale Avenue, Cleveland Heights.

Don't forget card party and refreshments, February 27th, Taylor Auditorium. Tickets 50c. Arrange your own tables.

J. J. KELLY, Chairman.

President of Akron Manx Says "They Expect YOU!"

Jack Bridson, President of the Akron Manx Society, who has returned from a visit to the Island says that the homeland never looked better and advises everyone to join our party on June 14th. From both a pleasure and health standpoint it will be money well spent.

He enjoyed his trip very much and renewed acquaintances with many old friends. The urge is so strong that Jack is anticipating joining the Homegoing party in June with his family, if he can arrange his business affairs satisfactorily. Everyone with relatives and friends on this big continent to whom he spoke expected them to make the trip. PERHAPS THAT MEANS YOU. He is loud in his praises for the courteous service and thoughtful consideration tendered him by the officers and members of the crew of the White Star liner "Baltic."

Mona's Mutual Benefit Society, Cleveland

W. H. Kelly, who was a member of the N. A. M. A. Homegoing Committee, has been elected President of the above society for 1930.

We heartily congratulate Harry Kelly and wish him a successful term. His first meeting was very well attended and we hope this will be true all year. Many fine things have been planned to make these meetings very interesting. This Society is worthy of the support of all Manxmen who are eligible.

Walter J. Quilliam has been elected to fill Harry Kelly's place on the N. A. M. A. Committee.

T. E. Brown Centenary!

The cost of installing a memorial window in the T. E. Brown Shrine has been fixed at approximately $300.00. Our friends are looking to Cleveland for leadership. We cannot fail them.

1930 Membership

Last month we published and sent out 2500 copies of our Bulletin. We would be pleased to send out 5000 copies but to do this we need your co-operation and support.

You would appreciate our effort if you could read some of the letters we receive from our kinsfolk who live in isolated districts where there are no Manx Societies. They ask for information of Manx happenings and news of those men and women from whom they have not heard since they left the Island.

We can supply them with this information (through our Bulletin) if you will help us. We need membership. The cost is small, $1.00 annually, life membership $10.00. Send in your application today to
