

BULLETIN of the North American Manx Association

Vol. 18, No. 1

"To preserve what'er is left to us of ancient heritage"

October, 1944

THE SECRETARY'S REPORT, 1943-1944

During the year just ended, the North American Manx Association again has broken a record with respect to membership. As of the closing of our books, our total number of paid members is the highest in the history of the Association, a record of which we are justly proud.

This is the third year in which our convention has been postponed, due to the war. So, our activities, as in the two previous years, have been directed toward improving our Bulletin, creating and stimulating the interest of our older members and of the local Manx societies, increasing our membership, contacting Manx people whose names are new to us, and doing our part to keep in touch with our young people who are in the Armed Forces.

Prize Distribution

After a careful analysis of the financial condition of the Association, it was decided that a Prize Distribution, to raise funds to carry on the work through the year, was not necessary. Accordingly such an announcement was made in our May Bulletin, together with an appeal to our members to pay their own dues and assist in securing new members. This healthy condition was due partly to the increase in membership, partly to the build-up of a backlog in funds created through successful Prize Distributions of 1942 and 1943, and partly to the careful budgeting and control of expense by the Secretary and Treasurer of the Association. We are sure that our members can be counted upon to support a Prize Distribution if and when it becomes necessary at a later date.

It was felt, however, that regardless, the usual summer garden party, which in the past had been incident to the prize distribution drawing should be held. Accordingly, on July 15th, the Cleveland Officers of the North American Manx Association and its Ladies' Auxiliary sponsored such a party at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Murry Hudgeon, 19008 Kinsman Road, Cleveland. It was a beautiful day, and a large number of Manx people resident in Cleveland and surrounding cities gathered there in the late afternoon. After a basket supper, a short informal meeting took place and was presided over by Past President John R. Cain. Those assembled were told of the fine progress being made by the Association, and the officers present agreed that the meeting had been well worth while.

The Bulletin

The same Bulletin Committee which has been functioning for the past several years was reappointed by the President to compile and edit the N.A.M.A. Bulletin for the year, namely: Claire M. Mylecraine, Gertrude Cannell, Mrs. Fred T. Gorry, John R. Cain and Fred T. Gorry, all of Cleveland, Ohio. The usual five editions were published and a total of approximately 5,000 copies were mailed. The Christmas issue was mailed to service men and women, whose names had been listed in the Bulletin. In addition to mailing copies of each edition to all of our members, the October issue was sent to other names on our mailing list, who appeared to be likely membership prospects.

The Service List of young Manx people who have joined the military forces of Canada and the United States has been continued during the year and gives us a permanent record of these names. A new column during the past year is the Honor Roll, where a permanent record also is made of our young Manx-Americans and Manx-Canadians who are casualties of World War II. It is with the deepest regret that we see this list growing in each edition, and our hearts go out to these boys and their loved ones in these tragic times. A resume of those listed as of the close of our fiscal year brings out the following figures:

Dead.....	11
Missing.....	7
Prisoners.....	7 (1 repatriated).

Data on Manx settlers in North America has been preserved through the medium of the Bulletin. During the year, three articles on this subject have been published, and it is hoped that additional stories of this nature can be secured and printed during the coming year.

New members have been added to local society membership rolls through the publication in the Bulletin of names of Manx people who were moving to cities in which Manx societies are operating.

The Secretary and Treasurer continued to handle layout work and proof-reading of Bulletins, in order to hold down printing costs. Our printer, Mr. John R. Cain of Cleveland, also has given his full cooperation in this respect, and despite the fact that printing costs in general have continued to increase by leaps and bounds, we have had to absorb only a nominal advance in Bulletin printing costs.

Service Men

The printing in the Bulletin of the names and addresses of service men and women creates interest in all parts of North America, and through it, our members often contact and entertain these young people located in nearby camps. We are happy and proud to report too, that many of them have joined the N.A.M.A. They are heartily welcomed and we are looking forward to greeting them at future conventions when they are resumed.

Membership

Through several reminders sent out with the Bulletin and the Treasurer's special requests for membership renewal, as well as the cooperation of our Regional Directors, local societies and our members, we are happy to report the highest membership in history for the year 1943-1944, a total of . . . 683. This record has been achieved despite the loss by death of many of our older members. Quite a number of our regular members helped to augment the membership roll by paying dues for others, as gifts. We find that in most cases, the recipients continue to pay dues in order to receive their Bulletins regularly. It also is gratifying to note that many of our former "Junior" members have "graduated" from that class and are retaining affiliation with the Association by paying "Senior" membership fees.

A marked trend toward the more prompt payment of dues during the past year is noted and appreciated by the Association officers, as it has eliminated some of the labor and expense involved in sending out requests for dues.

The President's Message

With the recent liberation of Greece and Crete, our thoughts will naturally turn to the heroic part played by our Manx boys in the early part of the war in this sector. Let us hope that if there are any survivors, they now will be free.

Several names of Manx boys on active service both in Canada and the United States have appeared lately in casualty lists and this brings the war to us personally. Our thoughts and sympathies go out, first to the wounded, and then to the families, as well. Recently the rather over-optimistic reports as to the duration of the war may have given us hope that our Toronto convention was closer than we thought, but unfortunately, it did not turn out to be correct. So, we must have patience until the great day comes when our fondest hopes will be realized and we can write "Finis" to this terrible struggle.

I cannot help but think, whilst reading some of the letters which the editors of the Isle of Man papers receive and publish, what a love of their homeland these boys express, and how they appreciate news from home, no matter in what out-of-the-way place they are on active service.

I wonder whether they would appreciate a copy of our Bulletin. I am sure that many of our members would be doing a kindness by mailing them their copy after they have finished with it, either to their relatives or to some other Manx boy or girl they know of.

I would like to thank all our Societies for their hard work and their unselfish devotion in sending comforts to our soldiers overseas. And finally, to all of our readers everywhere, let us continue to face the future with the courage and patience necessary to see us through.

Sincerely yours,

JAMES Y. MANN,
President

NEWS OF THE MANX SOCIETIES

BISBEE

The August meeting of the Bisbee Manx Society was held at Berlindes Ranch, just over the Divide from Bisbee. Their September meeting was held at the home of Rev. and Mrs. Griffiths Davies in Bisbee. Mr. and Mrs. Alf Kelly were host and hostess for the October meeting and plans for a "Tom Brown Night" in November are under way. Each member is expected to bring a guest that night, when a guest speaker and a special program will be provided.

This society had an extra meeting during August, when S/Sgt. Fred Corrin was home on furlough. Rev. Davies, President of the Bisbee Manx Society, called a special meeting at his home, so the members all would have an opportunity to meet Fred. They had a most interesting meeting and were ready to leave for their respective homes, when Rev. Davies received a telephone call from the Court House. A young couple wanted to get married. They arrived at the Davies home at nearly midnight, and the Manx stayed to witness the ceremony. They decided the young Flight Instructor, George Greaves of Salt Lake City, and his bride, Barbara Armond of Los Angeles, were entitled to a real wedding, so proceeded to give them one. Fred Corrin played the Wedding March and Ivy Corrin Dillon sang "I Love You Truly," Mrs. Arnold Corrin and Fred Corrin stood for them, as Rev. Davies tied the knot. And so ended a happy evening—one that all who were there will long remember.

VANCOUVER

The Vancouver Manx Society held its first Whist Drive of the season on September 29th. It was well attended and very enjoyable. The usual "cooish" took up the first half-hour, before the Whist commenced.

Their annual election of officers will take place at their meeting on October 27th.

CLEVELAND

The September and October meetings of the Mona's Relief Society of Cleveland were held as usual, on the first Tuesday of the month. After the October meeting, a card party and the usual lunch took up the balance of the evening and were greatly enjoyed by all. The next meeting will be held at the club rooms, 811 Prospect Avenue, on November 7th.

On November 13th the Cleveland Manx Societies Service Fund Committee will sponsor a card party at the same address, to raise funds to replenish their treasury. The hall and the date are made available through the courtesy of the Mona's Mutual Benefit Society, whose regular meeting night it is. All Cleveland Manx are urged to be present and support this good cause. Tickets, 35 cents.

PEORIA

The twelfth annual picnic of the Peoria Manx Society was held on Sunday, August 27th. Disagreeable weather prevented the attendance of out-of-town members and friends. However, those who were there enjoyed this annual get-together. Election of officers was held and the following were re-elected to serve the society for another year:

Hon. President.....Rev. J. C. Craine
President.....Frank L. Shimmin
1st Vice-President.....Miss Anna Monier
2nd V. Pres.....Mrs. Chalmer Forney
3rd V. President.....Gordon Speers
Treasurer.....Mrs. Robin Bliss
Secretary.....Miss Eva Kelly
2600 Knoxville Ave., Peoria

LOS ANGELES

While the Los Angeles Manx Society had voted some time ago to hold meetings only every other month, they must have had such a good time at their meeting held on September 29th, that they decided to meet again in October and have a Hallowe'en party. Richard Pilkington recently has been made chairman of the entertainment committee, so maybe that has something to do with this renewed interest in meetings.

Welcome guests at their September meeting included Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Brown of Alhambra, California, formerly of Cleveland, and Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Barnes of Glendale, California.

BUFFALO

Some of the members of the Buffalo Manx Society traveled about twenty miles out of Buffalo on the evening of August 26th to meet and entertain some of the officers of the N.A.M.A., who were stopping with Mrs. Edith Bury of Gowanda, New York. Alice Garrett, Rochester, New York, and Mrs. Amy Abell, Gertrude Cannell and Claire Mylecraine, all of Cleveland, were spending the weekend with Edith, who arranged with the Buffalo Manx to meet her party at a "Chicken-in-the-Pan" restaurant near Gowanda that evening. Everyone had a grand time and the only complaint was that the evening was much too short.

This society hopes to resume regular meetings in the near future.

SAN FRANCISCO

The San Francisco Manx Society's first meeting of the winter season was held on September 30th at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Burnett. Their next meeting will be at Mrs. W. Wood's home, when they are looking forward to having a good attendance. This society has done a splendid job in entertaining British sailors who were temporarily in port at San Francisco. Some of the members recently have been thrilled to hear that a number of these boys, since then, have been visiting relatives of the San Francisco Manx in England and the Isle of Man.

TORONTO

The season's activities of the Toronto Manx Society have been started and they are holding mid-monthly Euchre Parties to raise funds for cigarettes for their boys overseas. At present, they are sending them to ten boys, each of whom has been sent 300 cigarettes each month. The members are very gratified to hear how much these boys appreciate the cigarettes they are sending to them.

Shirley Moore, youngest daughter of Charlie Moore, Vice-President of the Toronto Manx Society, was responsible for an increase in attendance at their last meeting. Inspired by hearing her dad appeal to the Manx to get behind the Toronto Society, Shirley composed a letter and sent it out to 10 of the young Manx people. The response was very good. Eight of them attended the meeting and joined the Society. These young members already are planning for the good times they expect to have at the Convention. Congratulations, Shirley! Keep up the good work!

DETROIT-WINDSOR

The most recent meeting of the Detroit-Windsor Manx Society was held at Jackson Park in Windsor, Ontario on September 10th, when a good representation of the Windsor Manx was in attendance. An out-of-town visitor was Mrs. Cretney of Timmins, Ontario, daughter of Mrs. Lamberton of Windsor.

The next meeting of this Society will be held on November 11th at the home of Mrs. Mawson, 5203 Vancouver Avenue, Detroit.

A PRAYER

By FRANK CLEATOR, Cleveland

O Lord and Saviour of us all,
Protect our youth who heard the call,
Across the seas they nobly strive
To free the world that all may live.
Father, hear us as we pray
For our loved ones guarding us today.

Dear Lord, our boys now on the seas
Are searching for their enemies.
As duty calls from day to day,
May they still find due time to pray.
Father, hear, in humility,
We pray for our loved ones on the sea.

Still other loved ones, day and night
Preserve our freedom by their fight.
Their mission o'er, a safe return
Is that for which our hearts do yearn.
Lord of liberty and peace,
Grant that all wars forever cease.

If there were space in this issue we would like to mention individually several new members who have been welcomed into the N.A.M.A. in the last two months. They have been introduced by old members and we thank these friends for their interest. Members find that the Bulletin subscription makes an appropriate Christmas or birthday gift for a Manx friend.

Let's all bear that thought in mind.

OUR OWN PEOPLE

Mrs. W. Harry Kelly and her daughter, Florence, of 21009 Clare Avenue, Maple Heights, Ohio, renewed acquaintance with Ramsey friends and spent an enjoyable vacation in Toronto and London, Ontario recently. In Toronto, they were guests of Mr. and Mrs. D. Kinrade and Mrs. Sharpe, 341 Quebec Avenue. In London, they stayed with Mr. and Mrs. Fred Stanton. Mrs. Kelly, Mrs. Sharpe, Mrs. Kinrade and Mrs. Stanton all hail from Ramsey, Isle of Man. Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Corkhill gave a party for them one evening while in Toronto and, of course, the Kinrades and the Stantons also made sure that the Kellys were royally entertained while in their homes.

A recent wedding of interest to Manx people was that of Richard Corkill of Detroit, Michigan. On September 16th, he was married to Stella E. Holland of Detroit. After a honeymoon in Canada, they are residing at 13160 Sorrento Avenue, Detroit. Congratulations, Dick.

Word has just reached us that on March 4th, the former Jean Campbell and Douglas Corlett were married in Montreal. Jean is the only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alexander R. Campbell of Montreal, and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. Thomas Corlett of Montreal. Best wishes to this young pair.

L.A.W. Phynodderée Fenella (Pat) Kelly, R.C.A.F. (W.D.), eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. V. Kelly, Big Bend Road, Revelstoke, B.C., was married in Victoria, B.C., on September 5th to A. B. William Robert Bayard Smith, R.C.N.V.R., son of Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Smith of Fort Saskatchewan, Alberta. Congratulations and best wishes to these newly-weds.

Best wishes also to Sgt. and Mrs. George Philip Louis Clucas, who were married on August 19th in Vancouver, B.C. Sgt. Clucas is with the R.C.A.F., and is the son of Mr. and Mrs. E. F. Clucas, Union Mills, Isle of Man. His bride is the former Cpl. Violet Jane Greaves, R.C.A.F. (W.D.), daughter of Mrs. E. Greaves, Wicklow County, Eire.

Mrs. Alice M. M. Killip, 1020 Harwood Street, Vancouver, B.C., Secretary of the Vancouver Manx Society, recently enjoyed a holiday in Tacoma, Washington, visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. Faragher, 3715 N. Cheyenne Street, formerly of Laxey, Isle of Man. En route home, Mrs. Killip spent a few days with Mr. and Mrs. R. Joughin. Mrs. Joughin, who is the former Katie Radcliffe of Laxey, had Mrs. E. Hinds of Renton, Wash., (Harriet Clague of Laxey) spend a day with her while Mrs. Killip was there, and we are told that the Parish of Lonan was scanned pretty thoroughly that day.

A daughter was born to Mr. and Mrs. Allan Scott (nee Fanny Richards), 1828 Commercial Drive, Vancouver, B.C., on October 1st. Best wishes to the proud parents and baby.

Congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. R. K. Mercer of Windsor, Ontario, who were awarded first prize for the second successive year for the most beautiful and best kept wartime house garden. It is reported that one of their aster plants contained fifty blooms.

We also congratulate Wilbur Craine, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Craine, 429 Croft Avenue, Los Angeles, California, who was married on August 12th in Bangor, Maine to Elizabeth Phillips Stallworth. Wilbur is in the Seebes, and they are living in Eastport, Maine, where he is stationed at present.

We were sorry to learn recently that Gordon Downward of Toronto, with the Canadian Army overseas, was wounded on August 14th while on active duty in France. He is at present in a hospital in England, and has been overseas for nearly five years.

Another casualty among the Toronto Manx boys overseas was that of one of the four Fick brothers, sons of Mr. and Mrs. W. Fick, 205 De Grassi Street. He was wounded on August 7th in France. Another of these boys was killed in action, as reported in our August, 1942 edition.

A very welcome guest at the Peoria Manx Society picnic on August 27th was Miss Beth Craine of Waukegan, Illinois, a niece of Rev. J. C. Craine of Princeville, Illinois. Miss Craine visited her aunt in the Isle of Man in 1939 and is very enthusiastic about the "lip island."

A wedding of interest took place on September 23rd, when Miss Helen Winkler of Houston, Texas, and Lieut. Robert T. Bliss, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robin Bliss of Peoria, Illinois, were married at the Great Bend Army Air Field in Kansas. Best wishes, Lieutenant and Mrs. Bliss!

Stephen H. Quinney, who has been in the U. S. Army for the past two years, has been mustered out of service. After a short vacation in Canada, he has again taken up residence with the Harry Kelly family, 21009 Clare Avenue, Maple Heights, Ohio.

Evelyn Karran of Cleveland "rolled" into San Francisco recently with the Roller Skating Derby. Essie Quayle, Secretary of the San Francisco Manx Society, says she "rooted" so hard for Evelyn, that she nearly lost her voice. Anyway, Evelyn was with the winning team, so Essie evidently had good reason for yelling herself hoarse.

Mr. and Mrs. John Costain of Toronto are wearing broad smiles these days. In fact, we don't know who are the proudest, the Costains or their daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Perry Hudcock. Mrs. Hudcock (nee Jean Costain) gave birth to a son in September. He has been named Robert Frederick, after his uncles. Best wishes to this little Manxman.

Word has been received by the Bisee Manx that Lt. Jack Rogers is well and is in a prison camp in China. They also advise that Col. Richard G. Rogers is still a prisoner of the Japs. He too is well and is on the island of Formosa.

Mary Caine Ward, Secretary of the Los Angeles Manx Society, tells us that Phyllis Miller, a member of the Quarrie family of Pasadena, California, is in Columbia pictures. Best wishes, Phyllis. We'll be looking for you in the movies.

The members of the Los Angeles Manx Society recently had the pleasure of welcoming home their past president, William Mullen, who had been on an eight-months tour of duty with the Merchant Marine. During his absence from Los Angeles, he had touched nearly every continent on the globe and came home wearing the insignia of a full lieutenant in the engineering department. No doubt, he is on his way again by this time, as he expected to leave soon after this report reached us. Passing through Cleveland, he stopped over to visit the Tom McKissacks, 3392 West 130th Street.

Another seafaring member of the Los Angeles Society is William Cormack. A second officer in the Merchant Marine, he is at present in San Francisco training for an "upping" in grade.

A name added to the "Missing" list in our Honor Roll is that of Richard Christian, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Christian, 3015 Budan Avenue, Los Angeles. Richard, a torpedo gunner on the GUDGEON has been reported as missing. The GUDGEON is long overdue and has been reported as presumably lost.

Best wishes to Doreen Pilkington Galbraith. Doreen, grand daughter of Mr. W. H. Kelly of Los Angeles, recently became the bride of James Galbraith, U.S.N. The groom is stationed in Seattle, Washington for the present and the bride is living with her parents Mr. and Mrs. Richard Pilkington, 10015 Baring Cross Street, Los Angeles.

Recent guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Dan Christian, 31 Nellis Park, Rochester, New York, were the Thomas E. Gells, 1609 Spring Street, Syracuse, New York.

Mrs. Edith Bury of Gowanda, New York and Viola Peake and Mrs. Wm. Klaiber, both of Buffalo, New York, were in New York City during the week of October 9th attending the Eastern Star Convention. Other travelers among the Buffalo Manx are Mr. and Mrs. John Skillicorn, who are spending a few days in Chicago during the week of October 22nd, attending the tire men's convention. John is a brother of our Vice President, Walter Skillicorn of Buffalo.

S/Sgt. Fred Corrin of Bisbee, Arizona, now is stationed at Brigham City, Utah and reports that he expects to be overseas in the near future. Good luck, Fred!

A number of the members of the Manx Society of Greater New York entertained the N.A.M.A. Secretary and Treasurer at dinner one evening while they were in New York City during the latter part of September. It was a most pleasant evening and everyone had a grand time.

One each of the group photographs taken at the 1928 and 1935 Conventions in Cleveland have been offered to anyone who would like to have them. Interested parties should correspond with the Secretary, 10525 Baltic Road, Cleveland 2, Ohio.

Flight Officer John Donald Taggart of Anaheim, California, is with the glider service of the 73rd Troop Carrier Squadron. He was in the Normandy invasion and since then has been wounded by the accidental explosion of a rifle grenade dropped by a fellow officer. He now is reported to be out of the hospital, however.

A visitor to Winnipeg this past summer was Miss Mary Clague Hodgson, school teacher of Rochester, Minn., who contributed the delightful article on Manx pioneers in Minnesota in our last Bulletin. Miss Hodgson enjoyed several evenings in the company of President and Mrs. Jim Mann, Tom and Bess Corkan, and Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Qualtrough. "I was highly entertained listening to anecdotes, folk lore, Manx history and current Manx news—all of which was intensely interesting and informative to me"—writes Miss Hodgson.

Mrs. Pat Allen, who is with the Office of War Information, spent a few weeks in London on a business mission early in September, writes her mother, Mrs. C. Edwards, Hotel Sevilla, New York. Mrs. Allen made the return trip in a bomber, which grounded in Maine just before the recent hurricane reached that area.

A few primroses and buttercups from Mr. Charles Craine of the World Manx Association—some sprigs of ling and heather gathered at the Niarbyl by a young Manx Canadian—Sgt. Lewis C. Phillips of Vancouver—these were little reminders of Manxland received during recent months by the North American Manx secretaries.

Essie Quayle of San Francisco writes of receiving a letter from Dr. Joseph Torrey, who with his wife and family once lived in Dalby and later in Peel. His present address is R.F.D. 2, Box 811, El Cajon, Calif., and he has a granddaughter, Mrs. Clayton J. Cross, 2068 East 89th St., Cleveland, Ohio. Both Dr. Torrey and Mrs. Cross would appreciate being contacted by Manx people. Dr. Torrey has written words and music of a very fine "American Hymn," copies of which can be had by writing directly to him.

Rev. George Quayle, beloved Manx clergyman of Southern California, is still deeply engrossed in his duties in Trona—a desert town engaged 100% in the war work of the American Chemical Company. "George has had much success—the Church has become the biggest part of the community life"—writes Donald Bain of Los Angeles. He adds "I am hoping that some day we can urge him to attend an N.A.M.A. Convention."

Thirty years in the service of the Canadian Government is the record of Mr. Thomas Lynch, Russell Hotel, Vancouver, B.C., new member introduced by Mr. Thomas Gillard of Portland, Oregon. Their friendship dates back to 1907 when Mr. Lynch, applying to Mr. Gillard for employment, remarked "You wouldn't know the place I came from—Douglas, Isle of Man." "He got the job," says Mr. Gillard. Mr. Lynch's mother still resides in Douglas.

Recently home from the Pacific war zone was Captain John Tullitsch, son-in-law of the late Fred and Mrs. Boyde of Chicago. He holds the Air Medal and Distinguished Flying Cross, has completed 67 missions and was mentioned in the Chicago Tribune for his part in the bombing of Rabaul.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. C. Nightingale, 1924 West 58th St., Cleveland, are parents of a new son, writes the proud grandmother, Mrs. Ellen J. Nightingale, who lives at the same address. She says: "August 12 our home went under new management with the arrival of William Kevin Nightingale. He is a husky young Manxman, judging by the sound of his voice."

A grand family reunion was held at the Quane home in Melita, Manitoba, during the brief visit of son Frank of the Merchant Marine. Frank's travels had taken him as far as New Zealand where he met several Manx people, including Joe Woods from Peel. Mrs. Quane's three sons are listed in the Service List in this Bulletin, and the two stationed in Canada would be glad to see any Manx people who could find it convenient to look them up—and on her part, she will be most happy to welcome any Manx lads stationed anywhere near her home. Address: Mr. and Mrs. Tom Quane, Melita, Manitoba.

An item in a Chicago paper tells that Sgt. John Kneale saw his parents for the first time in 13 years when he recently visited the Isle of Man. He was then stationed with a heavy weapons section of the glider infantry in England, but Miss Annie Comish, 709 N. Mayfield Ave., Chicago, who sent us this clipping, says that Sgt. "Jack" is now on the fighting front and is to receive the Silver Star. He has two sisters in Chicago, Ellen Kneale, and Mrs. Mary Wils, 4051 N. Marmora Avenue. Two brothers, Frederick and Arthur, are serving in the British Navy; one, Albert, in the British Merchant Marine and another, Harry, in the British Home Guard.

Probably the only Manx professional ice skater on the continent is Gloria Fell Ketchum, with the famous "Ice Follies." Miss Ketchum would be glad to see any Manx people who attend the "Ice Follies" in the various towns included in its tours. Last winter when in Cleveland, she stayed with her great-aunt, Mrs. A. T. Quine, 12906 Woodland Avenue, and with her attended a meeting of the Ladies' Auxiliary to the Mona's Relief Society. This young lady is a descendant of the Moores, Ballacross, Arbury, and has visited the Island on two Homecoming trips with her mother, Mrs. Jesse Ketchum, 323 Frank St., Ottawa, Ontario—whom some of us met at the Montreal Convention.

A visitor to Washington in September, says Mr. Jenkinson, was "genial Bob Corkhill of Topeka, Kansas, sometime of Ballagarraghyn, Isle of Man." A great cooish took place, participated in by Messrs. Stanley and Ffinlo Quine, Jenkinson, Corkhill, and Mrs. Bob Corkhill, Jr., whose husband—Bob's eldest son—is in France with the artillery. A new grandfather — Mr. Corkhill enjoyed telling about "John Kelly Jr." who arrived last June—son of his younger boy, John. Many of us will remember meeting Mr. and Mrs. Bob Corkhill at the Lincoln Convention.

Congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. John Fargher, 3715 N. Cheyenne St., Tacoma, Wash., who attained their 54th wedding anniversary on October 6. They came to the States from Gretch Voar, Laxey, in 1910.

Mrs. Tom Teare, 975 East Blvd., Cleveland, enjoys corresponding with her great-nephew, John W. Corkill, son of Charles Corkill of Chicago, formerly of Ramsey. John is with the American Army in France at present and is kept busy installing telephone and lighting systems.

Mrs. Emilie Dawson Werner of 224 Scott St., Sandusky, Ohio, has received word that her son, Sgt. Robert L. Werner was seriously wounded on July 4th in Burma. He is now recovering in a hospital in India.

THE NORSEMEN IN MANN

By Ramsey B. Moore,

H. M. Attorney General Isle of Man

The presence of a number of Norwegian officers at the recent Tynwald and at the 1944 annual meeting of the World Manx Association gave a distinct Norse atmosphere to this year's proceedings. It was interesting to recall our Norse parentage and the influence of this heroic people in our life and character. From earliest records the Norsemen were famous for their independence and bravery. In their small boats, little larger than a nicky, they braved the North Atlantic seas and formed settlements in Iceland and Greenland, and were the first Europeans to discover America. The remnants of their settlements on the Canadian and New England coast are still traceable. Their spirit of independence drove them to leave their fatherland and seek new homes when Magnus endeavored to form a nation out of the numerous independent tribes.

They first arrived in the Island in 798 as plunderers having landed at Inispatrick, most likely Peel Island, broke into the shrine of Dracona and stole the treasures of the sea. When asked whence they came they pointed to the Milky Way, and ever after the Manx people referred to this vast group of stars as Orry's Way.

For a hundred years they paid their annual visits on plunder bent and took away all that was "not too hot or too heavy." Gradually they formed more regular settlements, and towards the end of the ninth century many Norse families were settled in the Island permanently, and there began that mixture of Celtic and Norse races from which the true Manx have really sprung. How well they mixed is recorded by the names on the runic crosses in which Celtic and Norse christian and surnames are blended. They established here the Norse form of Government, with the open-air Parliament or Thing, as the place for the administration of justice and the making of the law. Probably every Parish had its Thing, but these soon merged into two principal ones—for the South of the Island at Keill Abban in Baldwin, and Cronk Urleigh in Michael for the North, these two ultimately giving place to the all-Island Thing at Thingwald, or Tynwald, St. Johns, held annually on Old Midsummer's day. Law was administered by the Domr, now called Deemsters. Land was divided into Sheadings, or ship districts, and subdivided into parishes for civil defence, each with its captain, the parishes being divided into treens or tribal divisions, about half of which still bear pure Norse names, and the treens into family holdings or quarterlands.

The obvious indications of Norse parentage can be seen in many modern names:—The name Thor appears in Mac-Thorkills (Corkill, Corkish, etc.); Olaf's name is still easily traceable in the MacOlafs (Cowley, Cowell, Kewley, etc.), and many other examples could be given.

The Norse Kingdom of Mann acknowledged the suzerainty of the Norwegian monarch and extended to the southern Islands of Scotland, the King's full title being represented by the Latin phrase Rex Manniae et insularum—the King of Mann and of the Isles.

The Norse land tenure (Odol) prevailed, rather than the English feudal system, and was traceable to modern days in the law under which estates of inheritance must pass to the heir and could not be devised by will away from him. Norse art and mythology found its highest expression in the wonderful collection of runic crosses, complete casts of which are in the Museum, and another set of casts are lodged at the National Museum at Oslo. The Norse language ultimately died out owing, no doubt, to the fact that in many cases of Norse fathers and Celtic mothers the native tongue of the mother prevailed, and little trace can be found of that language in Manx.

The power of the Norse King of Man was so great at one time that his kingdom included Dublin and parts of Ireland, and parts of the neighbouring coasts of England. The Norse Kingdom, as such, came to an end from the defeat of the Norsemen by Alexander of Scotland in 1263 at the Battle of Largs. The Norsemen had the misfortune to lose half of their ships and forces in a great storm the day before the battle. After the battle, peace was signed under which the Norse Kingdom of the Isles, including Mann, was surrendered to Alexander on a promise of an annual payment which was never made, and with the death of the Manx King two years afterwards, the isle of Man passed under the Crown of Scotland and so remained until the wars between England and Scotland led to the peace after the Battle of Neville's Cross, and the Kingship of Mann passed to the English Crown.

Physically many Manxmen, particularly of the sailing families, still bear strong resemblance to their Norwegian cousins. Professor Marstrand is reported to have told the King of Norway that he saw his double on Peel Quay, and visitors to Bergen have been impressed by the likeness between the Norse fishermen and those of the Western port. Manxmen are proud of their ancestry and their connection with this brave, independent people, and no one studying Manx history can doubt that the spirit of independence evidenced over the centuries, notably in connection with the three hundred year fight with the Derbys for the ownership of their land, and evidence of which independence can be seen even in these troublous days, has had its origin in Norse stock and Norse tradition.

A very cordial welcome was given to the Norse visitors, and the hope was expressed that they might find many things in the Island to remind them of their great country whose bravery in meeting the German invader was so striking a feature of the present war.

MANXMEN ON THE BOUNTY

Much has been written about that thrilling sea story, the Mutiny of the Bounty, and the Bulletin has referred to it more than once. However, it may not be amiss to explain more fully wherein lies its particular interest for Manx people.

In the year 1780, Lieut. William Bligh, a young naval officer just returned from a voyage with the famous discoverer Captain Cook, took a long holiday during which he visited the Orkney Islands and the Isle of Man. In Douglas he met Miss Elizabeth Betham, daughter of Richard Betham, Receiver General of the Island and Water Bailiff of Douglas. On February 4, 1781, Bligh and Miss Betham were married in Onchan Church. The young couple made their home in Douglas for a few years thereafter.

Through his wife's family Bligh became friendly with Deemster Heywood, who lived at The Nunnery. The Deemster's thirteen-year-old son Peter wanted to get into the Navy, and his father and friends talked to the Lieutenant on the lad's behalf.

Then . . . a Manx sea captain, name of Taubman, recommended to Bligh's notice a young man, Fletcher Christian, of a Manx family resident in Cumberland. Bligh took Christian with him on two voyages prior to the "Bounty" expedition.

The object of the "Bounty's" famous voyage was to transplant the breadfruit plant from the Society Islands to the West Indies. Bligh was placed in charge and earned the nickname of "Breadfruit Bligh"—which sounds Manx enough! The expedition set sail in November, 1787, Bligh taking his two Manx friends along—Fletcher Christian, 24, master's mate; Peter Heywood, 14, midshipman—a little lad with a light complexion, "Isle of Man accent" and the Three Legs tattooed on his right leg, according to Bligh's own description.

That is how the three leading characters in the drama of H.M.S. Bounty found their common ground of acquaintance in the Isle of Man. These details are given very fully in Dr. George Mackaness' "Life of Vice Admiral William Bligh." Of the famous mutiny, how Bligh eventually got back to England, how Fletcher Christian and other mutineers reached Pitcairn Island and settled there, how young Peter Heywood was brought home, tried and actually condemned to be hanged as a mutineer—all can be read in the various books on the subject. But as every story must have a happy ending somewhere, it is cheering to know that the little lad from Douglas—Peter Heywood with the Manx accent and the Manx emblem on his leg—was pardoned, returned to duty and served for over forty years with honor and distinction as an officer in the Royal Navy.

OUR OWN PEOPLE

Mr. J. Wilson Jenkinson sends some interesting news regarding a member of long standing—from which we quote as follows: "Herbert Stanley Costain has recently been appointed minister in charge of St. Andrew's and All Saints Episcopal Churches in the Leonardtown, Md. area of Southern Maryland. The old church of St. Andrew's dates back to 1692. "Herb" studied at the Du Bose School, Monteagle, Tenn., and graduated from the Virginia Theological Seminary in July, 1944. Previously he had been engaged in newspaper work, and later in secretarial work at the Washington Y.M.C.A. His father, George Stanley Costain, was a native of Douglas, was decorated for service during the Boer War and again for service during the First World War." We join with Mr. Jenkinson in saying "Congratulations to the new Reverend," and sincere wishes for success in the life-work he has chosen.

Mrs. R. G. Anderson, 13622 Beachwood Avenue, Cleveland, recently returned from an extended vacation in San Diego, Calif., where she visited her sister, Mrs. Eva Miller.

Congratulations to Flight Officer and Mrs. Norman D. Speedie, of Ottawa, Canada, who are the proud parents of twin girls.

Meetings

Since no convention was held, no executive meetings were necessary.

Conclusion

Regional Directors and members who have cooperated so well during the past year are accorded our sincerest thanks for their untiring assistance.

We also express our deep appreciation to the officers and members of local Manx societies who have in any way helped in our drive for members and in supplying news items for our Bulletin.

The Bulletin Committee is not to be forgotten in our hearty vote of thanks. They have done a splendid job again this year. And, last but not least, we thank each and every one of our members who, through continuing their membership, have made it possible for us to carry on our work.

In closing, we express the hope that it will not be too long until we can all meet again at our Convention, which will be held in Toronto when the present war is over.

Respectfully submitted,

Claire M. Mylecraine,
Secretary, N.A.M.A.

Sergeant James J. Quill, Bisbee Marine bandsman who served heroically as a stretcher bearer during the battle for Guam, is a hard man to put out of action, according to Marine Combat Correspondent James Hague.

The Bisbee Leatherneck was hit by Jap shell fragments while helping erect a medical aid station near the front lines and was evacuated for treatment.

A few hours later, he had talked doctors into letting him return to his unit and resume his work, despite the painful wounds and a steadily-mounting temperature.

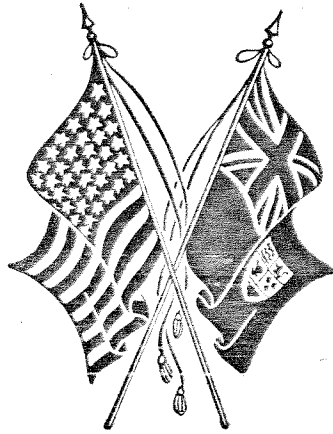

A Jap counter-attack that afternoon left 30 Marines wounded in the field, and Sergeant Quill worked with other stretcher bearers until all had been carried to aid stations.

Only then did he consent to return to the hospital. Doctors found that in addition to his wounds, he had been serving in the front lines with a 103 degree fever.

The 26-year-old Marine is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John Quill of Bisbee, Arizona.

Is anyone familiar with a book "The Fugitive Blacksmith," by Charles D. Stewart? Bill Killip, 2381 Clermont Avenue, Denver, Colo., (who attended the Lincoln Convention) possesses a copy and says that on the front of the book is the Three Legs of Man and the motto "Quocunque Jeceris Stabit." He has not finished reading the book but so far has not run across any reference to the Isle of Man itself. Can anyone enlighten us?
